NEVADA PAYS HIGHEST WAGES IN UNITED STATES

According to statistics just made public by the department of agriculture, higher wages were paid to American farm laborers during 1910 than at any time in the last 45 years. The average wage for the country was $27.50 per month during the year 1910, while 20 years ago it was only $18.33.

In some parts of the country the rate of wages of farm laborers was higher than in others. The highest was in Nevada, where the rate was $54, while in Montana and Washington it was $50.

South Carolina paid the lowest rate, $16.50.

In the New England and North Atlantic states the average was $34.19 with Massachusetts paying the highest, $37.65.

In the South Atlantic states the average was $19.75, with West Virginia paying the highest, $29. In the Northern Central states, west of the Mississippi, the average was $35.25 with the highest $37.25. With board, the average was $22.49. In the north, Dakota paying the highest, $42. With board, the average was $25.10. In the Southern Central states, the average was $21.90, with Oklahoma paying the highest, $28.10. With board, the average was $15.28.

In the far western states the average was $46.48, with Nevada paying the highest, $64. With board the average was $32.69.

GOVERNMENT HAS MINES.

It is not a matter of general knowledge that the United States is the owner and operator of actual producing mines. Recently some attention has been attracted by the gift of a Pennsylvania coal mine to the Federal Bureau of Mines to facilitate its studies on coal mining and efficient mining methods.

For three or four years the United States government has owned and operated a coal mine in the western part of the island of Batan, off the east coast of Luzon. The mine is under the control of the war department, which is the administrator of the government affairs in the Philippine islands. The coal is five and one-half feet thick, dips about thirteen degrees, is almost smokeless and contains only about 6 per cent ash.

The output is restricted to the needs of the United States military and naval service. Close at hand on the same island is another coal mine, owned by civilians which serves the needs of general commerce and industry.—Mining World.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs. T. O'Connell and family desire to express their heartfelt thanks to their many kind friends and to the county officials and merchants of Tonopah for their aid and sympathy in the hour of their late bereavement.

MRS. T. O'CONNELL and FAMILY.

RENO LODGE OF ELKS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

At the regular meeting of Reno lodge, No. 592, B. P. O. E., held at the Elk's hall last week, installation of officers was held, followed by initiatory work, at which time five candidates were introduced to the goat. Past Exalted Ruler Joseph McCormick officiated as installing officer and administered the obligation to the following:

Exalted ruler, William Woodburn; esteemed leading knight, Frank J. Byington; esteemed loyal knight, Cole L. Harwood; esteemed lecturing knight, Elbert A. Stewart; secretary, Robert L. Lowers; treasurer, John D. Cameron; clerk, Winfield S. Lake, E. P. Dunn, esquire, burn, E. P. Dunn, as esquire, and Ed Leeper as inner guard. The new candidates initiated were August C. Frolich, John W. Blum, E. W. Rowland, Gordon A. Stewart and Frank M. Hoy.

DETAILS OF NEW LAW EXPLAINED

CIRCULAR LETTER WILL BE SENT TO MERCHANTS ON WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Within the next week or ten days Prof. S. C. Dinsmore of the Nevada agricultural experiment station, will issue a circular letter for the benefit of the merchants and the general consumers as well, of the state, explaining the technical points of the weights and measures bill, as introduced by Assemblyman Frank Mayers in the last legislature, and which has since become a law. Prof. Dinsmore has been preparing the circular for the last two weeks and has about completed his labors. The letter will be very interesting to both the dealers and consumers in that it goes into every little detail of the new law, which is intended to do away with the misrepresentation of weights of commodities sold to the general public.

It has been discovered that the new law will not effect goods that are packed outside of the state. This means that all commodities in cans or packages need not be labeled with the true weight if they have been prepared and packed by a foreign concern.

However, an exception is made of butter and fruits sold by the basket. It is the intention of the commission in charge to strictly enforce the provision relating to the above mentioned articles, especially the selling of butter. All rolls or packages of this dairy product must be plainly marked with the exact weight and any and all violations will be followed by a suit to enforce the law.

Particular attention will be paid to the wood and coal industry, for the new legislation calls for the presentation of a statement in writing of the exact amount of wood or coal delivered to a purchaser who has contracted for a stated amount. This will mean that in the future a ton of coal will weigh 2000, and that the day of the short weight has passed.

The enforcement of the weights and measures law will start on June 1, and on that date Prof. Dinsmore and his assistants will be prepared to take up their new duties. As the bill carried an appropriation of $4000 for the next two years, the money will be expended in the employment of an additional assistant. The director of the experiment station has employed Prof. Silas Ross to fill the new position and Mr. Ross has already made preparation to take up his new duties. While the work will be supervised by Prof. Dinsmore, Miles Kennedy, now an assistant in carrying out the work of the pure food and drug commission, will also assist.

BULLION COLLECTOR SEES FINE FUTURE

L. F. Adamson, state bullion tax collector, who has been visiting the different sections of the state in the interest of his office, returned to Carson City Friday afternoon. Mr. Adamson is extremely optimistic as to the future of Nevada, and states that the physical condition of the mines throughout the state at the present time is much better than it has been for years.

This Week at the Nevada Theatre

MISS MAY ROBERTS, AT THE NEVADA THEATRE TONIGHT.

The lovers of the high-class drama will enjoy the program at the Nevada theatre tonight, for "The Thief" is in every respect one of the strongest of the latter day plays. It is intensely emotional and calls for every partial of dramatic ability, both in the supporting cast and the premier leaders, for the construction of the play demands as much from the leading man as it does from the stellar role of Marie Welloby. The entire second act is carried by these two alone, and during that act there is not a moment where the relaxation can take place, for the entirety of the scene leads up to the final climax. As was stated before, this is no child's play, and it would be disappointing to many if they attended expecting to enjoy a huge laugh, for there is really no comedy in "The Thief." Tomorrow evening, however, it is all comedy and a laugh every moment, but the lovers of art can ill-afford to miss witnessing what is pronounced as the highest class acting since the visit of Nance O'Neill some years ago. Such is the opinion of many critics who witnessed May Roberts in "The Thief" in Goldfield on their opening night. During the engagement of May Roberts a change of play will take place every night, and the disposition of the management is to alternate the serious with the comedy.

CONTRACT FOR STEEL WORK.

Another big step forward in the construction of the Mason Valley Mines company's custom copper smelter at the Yerington district of Nevada was taken last week, when General Manager Jules Labarthe entered into the contract for all the structural steel required at the plant. The American Bridge company was the successful bidder, the contract calling for approximately 400 tons of steel, which involves a consideration of about $40,000. The steel is for the blast furnace and converter building, the sampling mill and power house, also for the ore bin girders. The plans for the brick work on these various structures and for the flues and 200-foot stack are being rounded up and the management will be ready to place the steel in position as soon as it can be delivered. The contracts for the complete electrical equipment and gathering locomotives were let two weeks ago, so the detailed plan part of the construction work is now practically finished. — Salt Lake Tribune.

Why Send Out of Town for Your Printing

When you can have first-class work done right here, by first-class union printers.

The business man who sends out of town for his printing injures his own business as well as that of others. While on the other hand the man who patronizes home institutions increases the town's pay roll, and thereby builds up his business.

The printers and book binders in the cities of surrounding states do not come here to spend their money.
